.3 acres recovered from neglect, combining established planting with newly developed areas. New orchard, woodland, ponds and productive area linked to established herbaceous borders and shrubberies. The woodland area being developed was inspired by the winter garden at Anglesea Abbey. Latest project is a new cutting garden. Views over Devon countryside. Dogs on leads only please. Garden can be explored without using steps.

This is a visit just for us so I need to know if you are intending to come. If you want lunch at the Dartmoor Lodge then please make you own arrangements.

Look forward to seeing you at all or some of these venues.
